WHAT IS A COOKIE?

A cookie is a small file, typically consisting of letters and numbers, downloaded onto a user's device when accessing certain websites. Cookies are then sent back to the originating website on each subsequent visit. Cookies are useful as they allow a website to recognize a user's device. Cookies are used to track your movements within the website, help you resume where you left off, remember your login details, preferences, and other customization functions. The website stores a corresponding file (with the same ID tag) as the one placed in your browser, tracking your interactions within the site and any information you voluntarily provided during your visit. The cookies used on our Website can fall into different categories.

TYPES OF COOKIES WE USE

We use both session and persistent cookies. Session cookies expire at the end of a browser session, while persistent cookies remain stored on a user's device between browser sessions, enabling the website to remember user preferences or actions across visits, or even across multiple websites.

HOW WE USE COOKIES

Cookies may be used to remember your preferences and other customized settings, enabling us to provide a personalized user experience aligned with your preferences.
